Maynard Charges Debt Arrangement Act Is Totally Inadequate: Affront to West Farmers

The new Farmers' Creditors Arrangement Act, introduced into the House of Commons last week by Hon. J. L. Maynard, minister of finance, is not only totally inadequate to meet the needs of western farmers, but is a direct affront to every farmer and farm organization of the west. Hon. Lucien Maynard, K.C., attorney-general of Alberta, charged in a statement Wednesday.

"The Dominion government has once more sacrificed the interests of western farmers for the benefit of the mortgage companies," Mr. Maynard declares.

The new bill was "streamlined" through Parliament, and such a course of action was obviously planned in advance, Mr. Maynard said.

"The manner in which the legislation was presented and then the unscrupulous rushing in through before the farmers of Western Canada had an opportunity of even seeing the bill, let alone discussing it, can only be considered a direct affront to every farmer and farm organization of the west," Mr. Maynard said.

Secondly, the farmers of Western Canada through their accredited organizations are unanimously endorsing this proposed legislation and are prepared to run the risk of any resulting restriction of credit that it might entail. It is not in the interest of both creditors and debtors alike that the unfairness of the mortgage companies' position on fictitious farm land values should not recur in western Canada and that the practice should be discouraged by future loans.

Thirdly, the secured creditor will at all times know his position under the law and will loan money accordingly. The mortgage legislation provides that debtors incurred prior to a specified date are affected by the legislation. This date is always subject to change, and this bill, by its amendment, renders the creditor's position uncertain and subject to possible change. The mortgage cut-off date selected by parliament, namely, January 1, 1935, is an arbitrary date. There is no restriction in the provinces generally, even when the cut-off date was extended. In the case of a farmer as a business concern, the mortgage cut-off date was extended. In the case of a farmer as a business concern, the mortgage cut-off date was extended. In the case of a farmer as a business concern, the mortgage cut-off date was extended.

Mr. Maynard's complete statement follows:

"I cannot but express great disappointment at the new Farmers' Creditors Arrangement Act introduced in the House of Commons last week by Hon. J. L. Maynard, minister of finance. Not only is the new bill totally inadequate to meet the needs of the farmers of western Canada, but the tactics used by the government and the manner in which the legislation was presented to the House and then the unscrupulous rushing in through before the farmers of Western Canada had an opportunity of even seeing the bill, let alone discussing it, can only be considered a direct affront to every farmer and farm organization of the west. This I repeat very strongly."

Mr. Maynard has stated that the bill submitted to the Dominion government by the delegation representing the governments of the three prairie provinces was not acceptable to the Dominion government. He would have the result of drying up farm credit in the west. I don't think any better result could be presented to subsidize the mortgage companies. I am already making a statement to the effect that this bill was prepared with the interests of the mortgage companies in mind, rather than the interests of the farmers of Western Canada.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, North Africa, July 21.—

The Axis is bringing in reinforcements for a last-ditch stand around volcanic Mount Etna on the northeastern tip of Sicily.

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower indicated today as the Canadians and Americans stormed through the main mountain communications centre of Etna and the British slugged furiously at Catania on the east coast.

Gen. Eisenhower said "the enemy apparently plans to make a stand along a line at the base of the northeastern peninsula, including Mount Etna." He predicted bitter fighting and slow advances in the final stages of the conquest of Sicily.

New Mandarin Gardens Restaurant Opens Its Doors

New Restaurant Features Modern Furnishings, Decorations

Above is a picture of the interior of the new Mandarin Gardens restaurant which opened Wednesday. Modernistic furnishings and the Chinese decorations are featured throughout, and in the forefront of the picture is the automatic record-playing machine.

Few Words About Chinese Dishes As Provided at Mandarin Gardens

The oldest civilization in the world has of necessity evolved food which more nearly approaches perfection than that of any of the Occidental peoples.

One of the most widely-known Chinese dishes is Chop Suey—the words signifying "mixed vegetables"—but many misconceptions as to Chop Suey have arisen, and consequently many people have missed a great culinary and healthful opportunity. Made from succulent and vitamin-rich brussels sprouts, tender bamboo shoots, lucerna mushrooms and other fresh vegetables, flavoured with young chicken, tender pork or prime beef, etc. Chop Suey is not only delicious and tasty, but has a nourishment and health value which sets it well in the fore in comparison with other foods. With Chop Suey is served a sauce made from the Manchurian Soy Bean—nature's perfect legume. This bean is in itself a perfect food, and in addition makes a particularly appetizing and satisfying sauce.

Other Chinese dishes to be found on this menu are rich in stored-up sunshine and the necessary vitamins and calories; every dish is prepared with meticulous attention to cleanliness and purity.

The management feels sure that by introducing to Edmontonians these health-foods it is performing a real service, and that in partaking of them you will find them both palatable and sustaining.

Reporter Escapes Invasion Hazards But Not Auto Ride

AN ALLIED FORCE COMMAND POST IN NORTH AFRICA, July 15.—(Delayed)—(AP)—Roderic Macdonald, war correspondent of the Sydney (Australia) Morning Herald, landed in Sicily with British glider troops, went through battles with them, was captured and later freed when British patrols shot up the Axis guards and finally fled back to North Africa—all without injury.

Yesterday Macdonald went for a casual auto ride. The car was hit by a United States army three-ton truck and he suffered painful head injuries, cuts and bruises and landed in an R.A.F. base hospital.

NASSAU, Bahamas, July 21.—(CP)—Nancy Oakes de Marigny went to Bahamas prison soon after she arrived at Nassau yesterday for a lengthy visit with her husband, Alfred de Marigny, who is charged with the murder of her father, Sir Harry Oakes.

Capt. Reginald Miller, superintendent of prisons, reported that the 19-year-old girl greeted her 35-year-old husband with a kiss. He said "there was no weeping, and there was nothing sensational". They were together for an hour and 20 minutes in the presence of Miller and de Marigny's attorney, Godfrey Higgs.

Miller said the couple discussed their troubles but he declined to disclose details.

Cuisine Aims To Please Discriminating Tastes Of Edmonton Residents

East and West meet effectively in the new Mandarin Gardens Cafe, 9955 Jasper Avenue, which opened today under auspicious and favorable circumstances.

Mah H. Dan, proprietor, has just completed remodeling the restaurant, and promises the very best in food and service to discriminating Edmontonians, welcome now to the thousands of persons who are engaged in business, or the war effort, and require the best available food.

A brand new sign, black, yellow and red, with the pagoda motif on top, announces the Mandarin to pedestrians on Jasper Avenue. The exterior of the restaurant is very modern, with black tile and light yellow bricks.

The interior is divided into booths, of different sizes, to seat from two to eight people. These booths are modernistic in design and finished in natural colored wood with the seats upholstered in dark red and green leather, and trimmed with chrome. The walls are paneled in several variations of beige colorings. An impressive looking automatic record-playing machine occupies one corner.

MODERNISTIC DESIGN
This modernistic design is combined with Chinese decorations: multi-colored Chinese lanterns, of which the framework is beautifully carved teakwood, and the fabric painted with lizard dragons, and with gaily colored tassels hanging from the fancy corners. Lovely Chinese landscapes on the walls give the place a homey, comfortable atmosphere. Attractive wall brackets in the form of strange oriental fish contain little green plants.

Over the cashier's desk sits a smiling Chinese Buddha and above the Buddha on the wall hang four flags: the flag of China and great allies, Canada, the U.S. and Russia. The kitchen also has been remodeled, and huge steam tables and stoves stand ready to serve the public. On the stove are two large shallow iron bowls which Mah Dan explains are used in the making of chop suey, that most popular of all Chinese dishes.

The crockery is both useful and decorative, plates and bowls adorned with dragons and strange flowers are stacked up waiting for use.

FACED DIFFICULTIES
All these improvements have been made in the face of stupendous odds: wartime regulations, restrictions, and priorities all had to be faced but the management valiantly surmounted all obstacles. Mah Dan spoke very highly of his chefs and promised the very best in cooking and efficient service in spite of restrictions, rationing and labor shortages.

In addition to all the popular Chinese dishes the public will be offered all the regular Canadian meals.

When you visit the Mandarin you may be assured that every effort has been made not only to make the surroundings attractive and comfortable, but to please the most exacting connoisseur of food.

Canadian Fighter Squadron

Now Operating in Sicily

OTTAWA, July 21.—(CP)—R.C.A.F. headquarters announced last night that an R.C.A.F. unit—the "City of Windsor" fighter squadron—is operating in Sicily in support of the forward elements of the Allied force striking up through the strategic island.

The R.C.A.F. announcement was in the form of a dispatch dated "Somewhere in Sicily" from P. Lt. Ken MacGillivray, public relations officer, which was received at headquarters here through a special communication channel provided by the United States Office of War Information. This is the story MacGillivray tells.

The ground crews prepared by Commando training, its pilots were trained by months of hard service with the western desert air force and all ranks kept up for the most vital assignment in their long overseas career: the Canadian squadron made a successful early morning landing on the southern beaches of Sicily.

SELF-CONTAINED UNIT
"Virtually 100 per cent Canadian and a self-contained unit, the City of Windsor squadron which finished up the African campaign as a front line striking force has been again and again in the forefront of the battle plan."

Based on an enemy airfield captured only a few hours before the squadron's arrival and open to the risk of constant bombing and shelling, the R.C.A.F. squadron is now operating in Sicily.

With exceptional musical selection that have given Marian Anderson a wide following on this continent, the rich contralto will be heard over a local station—CFRN, on the Bell Telephone Hour, "None But the Lonely Heart" by Teichow, a Negro spiritual "I Was There" and the widely popular "Hills" by Frank La Forge are among the selections that Miss Anderson has the richest contralto voice in the history of music. At any rate, her engagements have included some of the finest concert halls on the continent. Miss Anderson, guest star of the Bell Telephone Hour will be heard over CFRN tonight at 8:15, by special arrangement with the United States War Department.

Daily War Map—Exclusively in The Edmonton Bulletin

The map above shows the progress of Allied armies in the week following their invasion of Sicily. With the capture by Americans of Agrigento (1), the U.S. left wing is anchored on the southern end of a railroad and highway system running north to Palermo. The Yankee penetrated 30 miles inland, continued pushing north toward Caltanissetta and Enna, the latter being the enemy's chief strategic base in Sicily. The Canadians took Caltanissetta (3) and Grammichele, straightening the Allied line by eliminating an enemy salient there and winning control of the island's main east-west road system. In one of the campaign's most decisive battles, the British 8th Army captured Lentini (4) gateway to the Catania plains, and Scordia, and were within a few miles of Catania. Axis was reported trying to rally its forces at the foot of Mt. Etna.

With high top gasoline, braving both German bomb bursts and falling British fire, the unit's perilous job was done. This group included Sgt. A. A. Fell, Norwood, Man. A guard had to be maintained at all hours against enemy snipers. Squadrons of fleet motor vehicles—practically all made in Canadian factories—performed excellently under the extremely exacting conditions of the amphibious operation and throughout the rapid drive across the island.

"Among the drivers who were at their wheels during the tense hours of the first of a multi-stage series of aerial visits."

TOIL THROUGHOUT NIGHT
"So through the hours of darkness, made more eerie by flak bursts and the spectacular probability of 'tracer fire,' a battery of tanks and armor cars continued to follow the main body of the army."

"All day the 1st R.A.F. Jargon for ground crews—tired ceaselessly and nightfall brought further and hazardous duties. A large road shipment of aviation petrol had to be unloaded and prepared for use and the enemy began what was to be the first of a multi-stage series of aerial visits."

"That $60. of yours, Mr. Evans, certainly gets around"

YOU say, Mr. Evans, that you put about $60 a year into life insurance premiums. Perhaps you've wondered sometimes what becomes of your money.

There's no secret about it. Here's the story, Mr. Evans.

THE assets held by life insurance companies in Canada are the common property of yourself and four million other Canadian men and women. These assets certainly get around. Some of them have built docks in the Maritimes. Some of them have built grain elevators on the prairies.

Some of them have gone into highway building on the Pacific Coast. For three years, now, most of them have gone to war.

For three years, now, most of them have gone to war.

For three years, now, most of them have gone to war.

For three years, now, most of them have gone to war.

YOU also have a share in Victory, Mr. Evans. Your insurance companies have put a large percentage of your premium dollars into Victory Bonds for you.

They have just bought 160 million dollars worth of the 4th Victory Loan... making a total of 600 million dollars invested in these bonds—because they know that you and everybody else in Canada believes that Victory is the immediate business of the whole nation.

Protection is the people's own business. You, and four million other policyholders are investing in the security that only Victory will bring.

We hope you have bought some bonds, too. Worth holding on to, aren't they?

IT IS GOOD CITIZENSHIP TO OWN LIFE INSURANCE

Calendar for June, July, and August 1943.

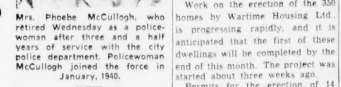

Home Building Program Is Well Ahead of Last Year

Despite Severe Shortages, Restrictions on Supplies, Total Value Nears Million

Despite severe manpower shortages and restrictions in building supplies Edmonton's home building program by private capital up to July 21, 1943, is well ahead of last year with approximately 400 homes being built or being in the course of construction for a total value of more than $900,000, according to figures compiled Wednesday at the city architect's office.

Leaves Force

The home building program is more than 70 dwellings ahead of last year's construction for the same period, and officials of the city architect's office stated that 1943 would probably set a record for home building in the city.

Mrs. Phoebe McCullough, who retired Wednesday as a policeman after three and a half years of service with the city police department, Policewoman McCullough joined the force in January, 1940.

Second City Policewoman Leaves Force

The resignation of Policewoman Mrs. Phoebe McCullough from the city police force, which became effective Wednesday, is the second during July. The first to resign because of ill health, was Mrs. E. Pennyfather, mother, after 20 years of service, whose resignation became effective Saturday, July 10 last.

Policewoman McCullough joined the city force in January 1940. Born in Sydney, N.S.W., 1886, she came to Canada in 1913, 1886, the Archbishop of Canterbury's Canadian mission, where she spent some time was stationed at St. Paul's mission on 32 street.

Married in Canada, Mrs. McCullough is the mother of four children, three sons and one daughter. Two sons, Edgar and Donald, are at present serving overseas. Another son, 18 years old, and her daughter, 16 years old, live in Edmonton.

Mrs. McCullough, while not certain of what she intends doing, indicated she may go into the north country in the near future.

For three years she acted as relieving mother at the city police force, and was appointed a policewoman in January of this year.

Her resignation was submitted to the council at the next regular meeting in August for approval to the building fund board. These names will be approved by the council in order of priority, and will then be submitted to the judge of the supreme court of Alberta for ratification.

An early appointment of a city treasurer to succeed the late C. M. Small, is expected also, and it is understood that C. M. Small, acting as treasurer, may be city council's choice.

Ford Cars—Ford Trucks

The Motor Vehicle Controller stresses the fact that functional replacement parts for cars, trucks and buses may be purchased, without priority rating.

There are certain necessary wartime regulations to be complied with, but owners of Ford Cars and Trucks are urged to keep such units in condition to perform emergency work.

Best possible wartime service for the Ford Owner.

Tojo Out 50 Cents to Pretty Girl

Pat Shelton, 17 years old, of 9425 95 street, was in the General hospital Wednesday morning, after she had been struck by an auto driven by Joseph P. Levasseur, 1646 Jasper avenue at 100 avenue and 104 street, and knocked from her bicycle, about 4 a.m.

Taken to No. 2 Fire Hall, the girl was soon after picked up by Smith's ambulance and removed to the hospital, where it was found she had no broken bones and her condition stated to be satisfactory.

Levasseur, who said he was driving east on 100 avenue and about to turn north on 104 street, when he heard a crash. He then saw the bicycle in front of his car. He said he had been blinded by the sun and had not seen the cyclist, before, he started.

The bicycle was dragged about 14 feet, and the girl was taken to the hospital, where it was assumed that the girl who is employed at the Institute, Press was on her way to work at the time. Considerable damage was done to the bicycle.

Father of the girl is John W. Shelton, Canadian National Express.

George McDonald, of Winnipeg, commercial assistant Canadian National, arrived in Edmonton Wednesday on a routine inspection, and is a guest at the Macdonald hotel.

Decision was reserved by Mr. Justice G. B. O'Connor in supreme court Wednesday in rape and indecent assault charges against Benny Munroe, Canadian soldier. Judgment will be rendered on Saturday morning.

Magistrate Harold L. Hove, K.C., will preside at city police court for the next two days. At 10 o'clock, A.M., Magistrate A. L. Miller, K.C., will be on vacation. Mr. Hove occupied the bench at Wednesday morning's session. Clifton G. Purcell, two years ago, was well known here as a tennis player. He spent eight years in Alaska, then for a time in Edmonton. He is now stationed in Regina, Sask. He has been active in boy scout work.

An opportunity for women's enrollment in the new to four the recruiting center of the R.C.A.F. W.D.I. will be the next month for No. 30, Rhoda Kitch, of 103 recruiting center, announced Tuesday. Women will be given the girls in blue, and will see them typing official correspondence, filing documents, acting as medical clerks, and a variety of other jobs.

Mr. Shannon told the photo that he was in the north in the employ of a construction company recently.

Speaking of more than 200 persons in the Moose Temple Tuesday, J. H. Ridd, president of the Alberta branch of the L.D.S., was chairman.

In a comparison of first-year property sales during the first six months of the year, it is revealed that Calgary's wartime growth is lagging far behind that of Edmonton. Land sales in the southern city were less than half of those of the corresponding six-month period in 1942, although Edmonton's sales nearly doubled.

The career of the Mandarin Gardens Cafe, 955 Jasper avenue, which opened at about Wednesday, has been a success story. The place has experienced a minor earthquake, and the building is far ahead of past years.

Saw Today City Flier Says Gunner's Job Not Most Dangerous in Plane

"I have no patience with people who claim that the job of gunner in an airplane is the most dangerous spot to be in," P.O. Donald MacLeod, who served as a gunner during his 25 months of overseas fighting, said today.

The Edmonton airman, who has been on 31 operational trips over the continent, explains that the gunner takes no more risks than any other member of the crew, and the hazards of facing enemy fire are shared equally by men in all sections of the plane.

MacLeod is now serving his mother, Mrs. Bertha MacLeod, and his sister Dorothy, at 1133 95 St. N. Mrs. MacLeod, who is a member of the Royal Canadian Navy.

The Edmonton airman, who is 27, was graduated in a wireless class at Calgary in April, 1941, and went overseas in June. He served first in a Canadian medium bomber squadron under the command of Wing Commander "Toby" Harris, D.F.C., and was transferred to his present position as instructor in the R.A.F.

One of his closest friends and a member of his crew was P.O. Ken Mathers, D.F.C., a former Edmonton Bulletin reporter. When P.O. Mathers was married to an English girl last December, P.O. MacLeod was two high.

P.O. MacLeod was married more than a year ago to Miss Margaret Woodhouse of Derbyshire, Eng. His wife will arrive in Canada soon after the war.

LIVED HERE 5 YEARS A resident of Edmonton for five years before he left the country, MacLeod was introduced as a railway telegrapher with the Canadian Pacific Railways here, and

Africa Waits

By AHMED ABDULLAH

CHAPTER XIII

A MOMENT later, a man stepped out from behind a tree. He was tall and of extraordinary width of shoulders, ruddy-skinned, full-bearded, with a great predatory look of a lion and resembling a gorilla. He was dressed in a blue and red checkered tunic, ornamented with a regimental insignia, and he wore a silver-studded British khaki uniform.

He reached out a strong hand and pulled Lincoln to safety. Again he laughed.

"I know a soldier," he exclaimed, "not always when I see one—for indeed you look like a Bedouin—but when I hear one. Spread your words you look."

He interrupted himself. "Words," he went on, frowning, "not altogether English, though." "I'm American," explained Lincoln.

"A glorious race, I understand, if not quite as glorious as the Afghans." "Gloria you one of them?" asked the other.

"I am that same Zaman Khan is my name, and I am a sergeant of the Sixteenth Punjab Brigade in the service of the British Raj." "And what," demanded Lincoln, "are you doing in this back of the African woods?"

"There was much grand fighting—the Afghans stretched valiantly towards the north—and I and many of my comrades were wounded and captured by the little black haired men who smell of garlic and the big yellow-haired men who smell of pig. And I did not like it in prison, in the land called the Sudan. Now I did not like it at all."

"What does it matter?" interrupted Zaman Khan. "Brave you killed a man—the sport of it, he was a man—for the sake of the red passion. What difference? Allah will forgive you, and so, profusely, 'hail I like you. I respect you, Zaman Khan. And your name?'"

"My name is Lincoln," he said, and now more the other said, "What does it matter? Come with me." "Where are you going?"

"To the little town of Yeha. I have been there before—the grained market there for horses. And no questions asked. And the wines there are fine. And the women there are fine. He blew a kiss into the air."

"Sounds attractive," admitted the American with a laugh. "You do not dare, because of the snake-bitten law, in the matter of your small killing?"

"Have no fear, Yeha is an Arab settlement in the heart of the country. No snakes are ever seen there. And it is by Shazara's cursed device they should learn of your being there and see you—why—the town is not far from the jungles."

"I'm getting married—can you give her some advice and dress her up like a school teacher?"

"Laff a-day."

"My wife saw a fox in a window and I see a wolf at the door."

the other side of Lake Tobias.

Lincoln looked up. "Ever hear," he inquired, trying to sound casual, "of a place somewhere in the jungle called the Kingdom of the Elephants?"

The Afghan roared with mirth. "Now I know," he cried, "that you are running away from the shaven laws. For the Meeting of the Elephants is a holy burial in the wilderness, and just the place where a man might hide for a day or a year, and never be found."

"You know the way?" "No. But somebody will in Yeha."

Yes—the American echoed in his mind—somebody would. Yes. He would be able to hire a guide there, was playing—he thought—in his mind.

"I'll go with you," he said. "Good. My camp is waiting. I'll go over there. I promise you a splendid mutton stew, charmingly flavored with wild herbs, and a drop or two of fermented liquor—alcohol, I suppose, the Prophet Mohammed may be interred in my behalf the Day of Judgment, while we fill our bellies and pleasantly with our wine. We shall talk as it behooves men to talk of strife, a little. But mostly, of women."

McCoy Health Service

At this time of year many people become aware of the fact that the circulation is poor as evidenced by coldness, numbness, or a tingling numbness in the limbs.

The ordinary case of defective circulation is accompanied by muscular weakness. As a general rule, those who keep the muscles firm by active exercise, at the same time have good circulation. While the circulation of the blood is partly dependent upon the heart and partly upon the muscular fibers in the walls of the arteries, it also depends to a large extent upon the activity of the large muscular groups of the body. Without muscular tone there could not be good circulation of the blood.

There are more than 800 muscles in the body and these comprise two-thirds of the body's weight. The heart itself is composed almost entirely of muscular tissue and these muscular fibers are also important parts of the structure of the walls of the arteries. If you want to improve the general circulation, you will find your muscles will provide you with the greatest help you could possibly obtain.

In all of the usual circulatory disorders brought on by sedentary occupations, the chief thing for the patient to keep in mind is to get more exercise as the relief of defective circulation is influenced more by the proper kind of exercising than by any other factor. Either light or heavy exercises, as the case demands, will immediately increase the flow of liquids in the body and will have a beneficial effect upon both the blood circulation and the lymphatic circulation. Furthermore, such muscular activity will also tend to produce a permanent improvement in the strengthening the muscle fibre all over the body.

However, in taking up calisthenics, it is well to keep in mind that light exercise is best in the beginning for the one who is not accustomed to taking any exercise. An ambitious spell of violent exercising usually does a great deal more harm than good. To get the best results in increasing the circulation by exercise it is necessary to begin slowly and to increase your calisthenics only gradually. Exercise is a wonderful remedy and the only one which results in the development of a break blood circulation, but it must be rightly used.

At the start take only a few light calisthenics combined with a short walk. Every few days add another exercise to this and you will get all of the good effects and will avoid the muscular soreness which is bound to develop if you exercise too strenuously at first.

Those who have not exercised regularly for years can certainly afford to go slowly at first, slowly increasing their exercises over a period of several weeks. A good start in regard to the walking is to start by walking a mile the first day and the walk only 1 minute longer each day. In this way at the end of 40 days you will be able to walk a good distance without ever having tired yourself out.

Exercise together with walking will improve the circulation in every part of the body, and I know of no other way in which the one with a poor circulation can improve as much as by the use of following the directions I have given you. My prescription for poor circulation is exercise—and more of it.

All questions regarding health and diet will be answered. Large pamphlets, self-addressed, envelopes must be enclosed. Write on one side of paper only. Letters must be signed. 30 words. Address: McCoy Health Service, The McCoy Building, West 5th Street, Los Angeles, Calif.

Polish Flier 'Has Holiday' In France After Bail-Out

By RUSSELL LANDSTON

LONDON, July 21.—(AP)—A young Polish pilot, forced to bail out of his fighter over France, spent nine days there on what he calls a "holiday" and then came home to fight some more.

He hiked for 100 miles through areas well covered by German troops, visited favorite restaurants, went to the movies, and registered at popular hotels.

When he rejoined his squadron he was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross, the decoration being pinned upon him by Air Vice-Marshal M. W. L. Saunders.

This pilot, Flt. Lt. Tadeusz Bledzinski, 29, already has made several jumps over Holland since his return unharmed.

He said he landed in a field and promptly went into hiding for several hours while the Germans scoured the area.

HEADED FOR CITY

"At midnight I headed for a big French city—I cannot, of course, say precisely where I went—but how the details of disguise and escape were accomplished in those two days there straggling about the streets, eating in the best restaurants, visiting the sights, including many of my old haunts and saw two film programs."

"I had to leave my hotel very promptly, though, when the German planes started dropping bombs. I just kept walking and occasionally took a train ride."

"When talking with Germans I spoke French, although I have only an academic knowledge of the language. But somehow I got by with it."

"I suffered from hunger some of the time I was in hiding. At one time I went without food for three days."

NAZI MORALE POOR

The morale of the German troops he saw in occupied France was, he said, "very poor." Adding that the Nazi troops stationed there were "older men, poorly clothed and equipped."

"The French," he said, "are 100 per cent on the side of the Allies. They speak quite fluently in German every time our planes go over on a mission. They wait patiently for the aircraft to start."

ASTORIA, Ore., July 21.—(AP)—Fire broke out in Astoria, Ore., today, leaving a trail of smoke and flames that threatened to sweep the town.

The fire started in a three-story building and spread rapidly.

Fire-fighting equipment was called from nearby towns, 20 miles south and inside, Wash. state, but the progress of the blaze was not halted until the firefighters and navy men in from nearby bases to fight the flames.

Destroyed were a large rooming house, a hotel and a hotel.

City Manager Brewster said damage was more than $100,000.

The district was jammed with hundreds of homeless, homeless and homeless.

There are 52 species and subspecies of birds and slates in Alaskan coastal waters.

Soviet Attache Says Morale of Nazis Cracking

By B. T. RICHARDSON

EDMONTON, British Columbia, July 21.—German soldiers and officers taken on the Russian front recently no longer have faith in a German victory, Col. Nikolai Zabinin said Tuesday.

Col. Zabinin has just arrived from Moscow to take up his post as military attache in the Soviet legation in Ottawa.

German army morale is cracking, Col. Zabinin said, and each day it grows progressively worse in spirit, in technique, in equipment and in the morale of the front line troops.

Zabinin was taken out of the front line to be appointed attache in Ottawa. At 20 years of age, he has been in the Red Army for 11 years.

A smart, handsome soldier, he has fought on three fronts in the present war near Chuchin on the central front, around Belgrade farther south, and near Tugay on the Caucasian front.

BOASTED THEN

He said, early in the war when Nazi armies in Russia were making tactical successes, captured German soldiers would speak to Russian officers. They boasted of ultimate victory, the sure and certain and arrogant. But after the German defeat at Moscow, Nazi officers began to talk differently.

They were not so sure of victory. But after Stalingrad a remarkable change occurred. German soldiers, surrendered at Stalingrad willingly.

He said he had seen whole battalions of Germans marching out of the front line, and he had seen them being taken to the rear.

Col. Zabinin said the morale of the Red Army was higher than ever. "All the time," he said, "the confidence of the Russian soldiers is growing."
